

Community Engagement

The need for authentic leaders and engaged citizens is more apparent now than ever. This pathway will provide you with the opportunity to discover your strengths, develop your leadership style and apply your knowledge in ways that positively impact not only the campus community but the global community as well.

Sample Courses

Facilitating Council: An Experiential Training in Deep Listening and Guiding Dialogic Processes (SSC591)

Public Service and Social Change: Theory and Practice (CDS622)

Community and governance colloquium (CDS619)

Outdoor Leadership (CDS625)

Co-curricular options

Town Meeting Selectboard

Work Day Crew Chief

Residence Assistant (RA)

Bridges Leader

Community Organizations

The Root Social Justice Center

Groundworks Collaborative

350.org

Women's Freedom Center

Community Profile

Kelsa Summer '13

“Placing living conditions and quality of life at the center of a definition of development is important because it refocuses the debate towards millions of people living in poverty in the global south. Therefore development, as understood by this paper, means the improvement of living conditions and future prospects of all people in a country’s population over the long term.”

Plan of Concentration

Avenues of change: a study of development and social change with a focus on organizational strategies and structures